What Is New York University?

THE purpose of this series of talks is to make New York University better known among the readers of this paper. Measured in terms of human service, it is among the greater educational institutions of the western world. Last year only five other universities in the United States reported a larger enrollment. The fact that it is not better known by the citizens of this City is due to three main reasons:

1. It is comparatively young. It is only now completing the nineteenth year of its history, and its remarkable growth has been almost wholly of the twentieth century.
2. It is obscured by the bigness of the city. Even an enrollment of 12,000 is almost lost in a city of 6,000,000 souls. Moreover, these 12,000 students are not concentrated in one place, but with a view to the greatest usefulness are scattered in four different university centers.
3. It is easily confused with neighboring institutions of similar name. Columbia University in the City of New York, founded as Kings College in 1754; the College of the City of New York, established by the Board of Education in 1848 and supported by the municipality; the University of the State of New York, an administrative body with headquarters at Albany—all these are occasionally mistaken for New York University.

New York University was founded in 1831 as a privately endowed institution for the purpose of giving more liberal and useful training than was afforded by the classical colleges of that period.

In the years following the Civil War, administrative and financial difficulties hampered its growth, and it did not begin to share in the general educational advance until the administration of Chancellor Henry M. MacCracken, beginning about 1890.

But today, with so many of its graduates serving as teachers and officers of administration in schools and colleges, so many ministering to the health of the community, so many occupying high positions on the bench or in the government, so many directing the work of great financial, industrial, and commercial enterprises, its light cannot be hid, and it must become well known among the better informed members of this community.

Commissioner in Report to Hyman Takes Pride in Three Year Record.

ALMIRAL JURY ASSAILED
Department Is Administered Sincerely and Efficiently, Says Commissioner.

The annual report of the Police Department for 1920, which has just been submitted to Mayor Hyman by Police Commissioner Enright, probably is the most comprehensive ever issued by the department. It is a summation of Mr. Enright's three years of administration.

Aside from the usual figures, financial and otherwise, the report and a letter prefacing it attack the Almiral Grand Jury and the newspapers of the city. The report has 384 pages with an index and is under date of November 1. A full page photograph of the Mayor is the frontispiece.

The Commissioner's figures on crimes of violence for 1920, which he has quoted many times in public addresses, indicated a slight decrease from 1917. There were a total of 61,438 complaints for murder, felonious assault, robbery, burglary, larceny and miscellaneous felonies in 1917, according to his figures, and in 1920 there were only 49,166. The arrests for 1917 totaled 23,194 and for 1920 they were 27,620. In 215 murders committed in 1920 Mr. Enright says the police made 254 arrests.

For December, 1920, when, he wrote, the "alleged crime wave" occurred, there were 21 murders, 199 assaults, 138 robberies and 621 burglaries. In December, 1917, the year preceding his administration, there were 19 murders, 163 assaults, 87 robberies and 925 burglaries.

Mr. Enright, in his letter to the Mayor, says that "the Almiral Grand Jury descended upon this city" toward the middle of 1919 and "by arbitrarily attributing a scope of authority to the ancient writ of subpoena duces tecum" wantonly robbed the files of the Police Department of records, papers and correspondence essential to the transaction of its business.

The harm suffered through this seizure, Mr. Enright explains, cannot be estimated. He characterizes as outrageous the fact "that the administration of justice can be hampered and obstructed on such illegal and frivolous pretexts." There was no justification for the seizure, he says, and it was a crime against society.

"Press Helps Assaults,"
The Almiral Grand Jury "without any authorization, so far as any one knows, not even that of precedent," he charges, transacted much of its business in the offices of its foreman, Raymond F. Almiral, "a thoroughly illegal and unwarranted proceeding." He and the department were "ruthlessly assailed" by that body "with the able assistance of a part of the press."

"Letting them go had fruitlessly probed and dissected every act and angle of the present police administration that appealed to them," Mr. Enright continues, the members of this Extraordinary Grand Jury, their counsel, or some of them, continued to provide the press of this city with flamboyant stories or revelations about to be made, detrimental to the municipal and police administrations. None of them ever materialized, and after having resorted to about every form of coercion known, and many unequivocally illegal acts besides, this twentieth century lineal descendant of the 'Star Chamber' and the 'Inquisition' wilted and vanished."

Mr. Enright states that every Police Commissioner "the instant he takes office becomes a target for a multiplicity of attacks." These came not only from the press, he says, but from various civic organizations, professional reformers, "the citizen or firm nursing a grudge against a professional gambler," all classes of thieves, "and disappointed office seekers."

"The Police Commissioner who holds office for any length of time," he continues, "the various species of attack begin to assume a generic similarity, and he is able, after a while, to identify the source of the attack on the basis of its characteristics after much the same manner that a zoologist differentiates between several species of reptiles and monkeys."

"Attacks Easy to Identify."
"The hostile press of this city, always in the forefront when an attack is made on the Police Commissioner or Police Department, were reduced to dire straits because of a lack of material to give color to its assaults. Ultimately finding that no such material existed resort was had to the simple but sinister expedient of fabricating it. The result has been that repeatedly in the three previous years the citizens of this city have had the Police Department misrepresented to them in the most unscrupulous falsehoods, calumnies and canards. It has been my experience to run across."

"In the face of all evidence to the contrary, crime 'waves' have been conjured up, directly or indirectly, the citizenry of the city has been churned up and agitated by the most atrocious falsehoods and misstatements it was possible for the gifted 'scribes' as they call themselves, to conceive in their feverish and overstimulated craniums."

Mr. Enright goes on to say the enemies of the department "sought upon every ill advised act of a member of the force and exaggerated and distorted it beyond recognition."

"A regular campaign of this sort of vilification was begun," he added, "and the simplest mistakes made by policemen were expanded to huge proportions. The exercise of poor judgment and hasty or overzealous actions by policemen were magically transformed into serious offenses, according to newspaper accounts; efforts to trump up grave charges against policemen were fomented and fostered in secret by those who should have been the first to catch them. Nothing has come of these dishonest and criminal maneuvers, because nothing can come from a void any more than a silk pupa can be made from a sow's ear."

Closing his letter of preface Mr. Enright says:

"For my own part, Mr. Mayor, I am conscientiously state that I have followed, in the spirit and letter, the policy of economy and public service you directed me to observe in my conduct of the Police Department. I can review each official act of mine during the last three years with the knowledge that I

RESIGNATION AS PASTOR IS WITHDRAWN BY PRIEST

Father McCloskey Had Been Forbidden by Bishop of Trenton to Hold a 'Tag Day.'

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 27.—The Rev. Dr. John B. McCloskey to-day caused a sensation in Camden church circles when he announced he had tendered his resignation as pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart, resenting the action of other Catholic parishes in Camden, which objected to his plans to hold tag day on Saturday for the purpose of raising funds for the benefit of St. Michael's Orphanage. Hopewell, N. J. Late to-night, following a meeting of his parishioners, Dr. McCloskey said he had withdrawn his resignation.

The priest forwarded his resignation to Bishop Walsh in Trenton. Dr. McCloskey planned to raise $5,000 for the institution, although the quota for his parish was only $750. The Right Rev. Bishop Walsh called up Father McCloskey on the telephone and informed him that other Catholic priests in the city objected to the campaign.

The campaign was then called off and the resignation forwarded. The men of the church held a meeting this afternoon and urged the Bishop to act on the resignation. Dr. McCloskey was former pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Atlantic City, and is well known in south Jersey.

"In nearly twenty-five years as a priest this is the first time I have been rebuffed by my superior," said Father McCloskey. "I have been discredited in the eyes of my parishioners, the Catholics of Camden and my good non-Catholic friends."

METHODIST CHURCH REJECTS UNION PLAN

Board of Bishops Agrees It Cannot Accept Proposals of Lambeth Conference.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 27.—The Methodist Episcopal Church, through the formal action of its board of bishops, which closed a four day session in this city Saturday night, has rejected the proposals for the reunion of all Christian churches put forward by the Lambeth Conference of the Church of England in London in August, 1920.

The answer of the Methodist bishops, as expressed in formal resolution, is to the effect that while they agree as to the need for spiritual unity and cooperation they cannot agree to any method of unity that might seem to question the validity of their own ministry.

The Lambeth proposals, which were agreed to by representatives of the Protestant Episcopal Church, provided for the reunion of the churches through reordination of the ministers of Protestant churches other than those of the Episcopal Church by bishops of the Anglican or Episcopal Church. Such reordination was not to be required of ministers of the Roman and Greek Catholic churches.

This, the Methodist bishops say, represents a theory with which they can in no wise agree. While they realize that the Lambeth proposals expressly disclaimed any intention of impugning the ministry and the orders of other churches, they feel that for them to accept reordination would be to admit that their present orders were not valid. This, they say, they cannot do.

The bishops call attention to the similarity in faith and practice between the Methodist Church and the Anglican and Episcopal Church, and express appreciation of the spirit in which the offer was made. They say they realize that to effect church unity sacrifices must be made by all, this spiritual union and fellowship is the ideal of all Christian churches, and pray for the blessing of God upon the Anglican Church and the other parties to the Lambeth proposals.

3,000 QTS. CANADIAN BEER SEIZED IN RAID

Yacht Also Taken at Toledo; Owner Arrested.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 27.—Nearly 3,000 quarts of Canadian beer per case were confiscated by police and prohibition enforcement officers here early this morning, an hour after the cargo had been hauled into the Ironville slip in Maumee Bay.

A lake going yacht also was seized, together with an automobile said by police to belong to George Dittman, an alleged rum runner. The crew of the yacht escaped.

Several hours after the seizure Dittman was arrested and held without bail. He is believed by the police to have been head of the smugglers.

Dittman was arrested in connection with the murder of Arthur Janisse, Wyandotte, Mich., rum runner, in the Detroit River on the night of April 21 last. Two other officers also were arrested for the alleged murder, but all were acquitted in the Circuit Court at Detroit.

Janisse was shot four times in the breast and an anchor tied around his neck. His body was found several days later at the bottom of the river.

have administered the affairs of the Police Department with the same efficiency, efficiency that I would like to have had them administered in my own behalf had I held another office and been responsible for their conduct."

In his salutation Mr. Enright said that when he became Police Commissioner he found "the former administration had practically ceased to function after the results of the election of 1917 were announced." He found that every possible "fad and fancy" had been tried out by his predecessor, Col. Arthur Woods, and that there was virtually no organization to carry out the routine work of the department.

The charges against the Almiral Grand Jury are elaborate in the body of the report, with affidavits of detection made by Don Quixote de la Mancha, surnamed the Knight of the Doleful Countenance, upon the inoffensive but industrious windmill; the moral health of the department at large continues excellent, and there is no unwelcome anxiety visible among any rank of it."

The report includes a separate report from each deputy commissioner, inspector, precinct and detective branch captain. Ending the report are eighty-one letters of commendation Mr. Enright received during 1920. These take up thirty-four pages alone.

CALL LOUISE GLAUM IN ARBUCKLE TRIAL

Six Others From Hollywood Colony Also Are Summoned by State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Subpoenas were issued to-night at the request of the District Attorney's office for Louise Glaum, moving picture actress, and six other persons, all believed to be connected with the moving picture industry, to appear in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. Arbuckle.

Officials would give no intimation of the reason for the subpoenas nor for the testimony they expected any of those called to give. All the other six are residents of Los Angeles or Hollywood, Cal.

Depositions of Dr. Maurice Rosenberg of Chicago and other Eastern witnesses are to be produced to-morrow. The defense expects to close its case to-morrow and both sides expect that by the end of the week a verdict will have been rendered which will settle the share the motion picture comedian had, if any, in the death of Virginia Rappe.

Rebuttal testimony by the prosecution will follow the submission of the defense case and probably will take two days. The remainder of the week will be taken up with defense rebuttal evidence, final arguments and instructions by the court and jury deliberation.

Ignatius H. McCarthy, former investigator for the United States Department of Labor and finger print student, is expected to be the first witness to-morrow. The defense called him for the purpose of refuting testimony offered by E. O. Heinrich, a consulting criminologist, that finger prints on the doors of the Hotel St. Francis room where Miss Rappe is alleged to have been mortally injured were those of Arbuckle and Miss Rappe and showed evidence of a struggle.

SIoux WELCOME FOCH AS 'CHARGING THUNDER'

Marshal and Red Tomahawk Smoke Peace Pipe.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 27.—Marshal Foch smoked the pipe of peace here to-day with Chief Red Tomahawk, cementing forever the friendship of the Dakota Sioux Indians and the French nation. The presentation of the pipe of peace was part of a tumultuous reception given to the French soldier by thousands of persons from many towns in western North Dakota.

A conversation between Marshal Foch and Chief Tomahawk was conducted in three languages. An interpreter repeated the substance of Chief Tomahawk's remarks in English, while an aid repeated them in French to the Marshal.

Chief Tomahawk conferred on Marshal Foch as a signal honor from the Indians the name "Watakech Waklaya," or "Charging Thunder."

"After his trip through the populous East Marshal Foch expressed himself as deeply impressed by the great prairie country he traversed to-day."

"His grandeur is almost overpowering," he said.

TWO VICTIMS OF LAKE TRAGEDY IDENTIFIED

Bodies Are Those of Skipper's Wife and a Mate.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Capt. John Randall of Seelys Bay, Ontario, father of Capt. Harry Randall, master of the steamboat City of New York, which foundered in Lake Ontario last Thursday, arrived here to-day and identified two of the five bodies which were recovered as those of Mrs. Georgia Randall, wife of the captain, and Wesley Warren, the mate.

Capt. Randall was not acquainted with the others of his son's crew, and could not identify the other two bodies, believed to be those of Harry and Earl Dorey, or a man named Gallagher. It was reported here to-day that another of the crew, whose name has not appeared in the list of victims, was Stanley Tappe, a 18-year-old cabin boy, of Kingston, Ontario. Nine persons, including the two children, and Capt. and Mrs. Randall, are thought to have lost their lives.

MURDER DELAYS FINAL CLOSING OF STATION

Adams Street Building Goes Out of Existence.

The Adams street police station in Brooklyn, one of the oldest station houses in the borough, was to have closed at 12:01 o'clock this morning by order of Commissioner Richard E. Enright, but it did not actually and officially close until seven minutes later. It went out of existence working as hard as ever to solve crimes.

The delay was due to the necessity of entering on the blotter and making a report of a murder which was committed in Johnson street about half past 10 o'clock, when Pasquale Mosca of 225 Tillary street was shot and killed. Mosca had a revolver in his hand and his finger was on the trigger, but it had not been fired. His body was found in front of 171 Johnson street by Patrolman John Lombardi.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—Two little children were burned to death to-day and a block of twelve tenements destroyed in a fire in Rosemont, in the northeast section of the city.

SHAFT TO 76 DEAD SET UP AT BATTERY

East Side of Old New York Honors Its War Heroes in Drizzling Rain.

CEREMONY QUITE SIMPLE

Alfred E. Smith and Other Residents of District Attend Unveiling.

Five thousand persons gathered in Battery Park yesterday afternoon and with disregard of their own comfort withstood a drizzling rain for more than an hour to do honor to the war heroes of the East Side of old New York. In the crowd were several gold star mothers, for whom special provision had been made. The rest were fathers, brothers, sisters, sweethearts of the seventy-six lads whose names are permanently inscribed on a granite shaft facing the Statue of Liberty.

It was the East Side's tribute to her dead, and the unveiling of the shaft, with its bronze plate, was impressive because of its simplicity. The set programme of speeches was dispensed with on account of the rain. A brief invocation by the Rev. William N. Hubbell of Mariners' Temple, the unveiling by Lawrence Coleman and Margaret Monahan, singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by Miss Mary C. Ford and the Fire Department Band, a benediction by Father William J. Rafter of the Bowery Mission, a salute of three volleys and "Taps" by a bugler were the chief features. The Police Department Glee Club completed the exercises with "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Two wreaths were placed at the foot of the memorial, one the gift of the Sisters of the Madonna House and the other, laid by Miss Marion Rioridan, daughter of Representative Daniel J. Rioridan, being sent by William A. Thompson, chairman of the committee through whose efforts the memorial was procured.

The escort which accompanied the wreath placed by the Madonna House marched down Broadway from 121 Cherry street. Two hundred and fifty persons, including six gold star mothers, were in the delegation, which was composed of the various societies of the Madonna House, the Columbus Volunteers of New York, connected with the Madonna House, sent 711 young men to the service and the organization's service flag was carried in line with the first American flag to fly over a base hospital in France. The wreath was placed at the statue by First Sergeant John Harrigan, Infantry.

Major Gen. Robert L. Bullard, commanding the Second Corps Area, sent a company of the Twenty-second Infantry, with a band and firing squad, under command of Capt. Prindle. Two companies of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, in which many of the men whose names appear on the bronze tablet served, were present. There also was a detachment of Red Cross nurses and 500 school children, who assisted the singing.

The memorial was purchased by popular subscription. The seventy-six names are all those of which the committee knew. If there are any others they are revered in a line to the unknown dead.

Among the well known residents of the district who were present were the former Governor and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, Thomas F. Foley, Henry McCadden, John C. Keating and Patrick J. Whelan. Others were Judge Thomas C. T. Crain, Thomas J. Nolan, Edward N. Thompson, Frank Smith, Arthur Benson, Charles Nienstedt, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander I. Rorke, Charles F. Regan, John F. Gilchrist, Joseph Russo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady, Peter McNeil and William Quigley.

BRITISH SHIP BUILDING SEEN AT LOW POINT

GLASGOW, Scotland, Nov. 27.—The market for shipbuilding is so low that no new order to build a ship has been received at Wallsend on the Tyne since the beginning of the year, says Sir George Burton Hunter, chairman of the board of directors of one of the big shipbuilding companies there.

A vessel now nearly completed at Sunderland has been sold at a price less than one-half her cost of construction. Sir George gives figures showing that it now costs £11.75 for a ton of steel used in a ship, as compared to £3.58 in 1911. The iron workers, he says, now handle about two hundredweight of steel per week less than they did ten years ago.

Sir George asserts also that wages are frozen there to the point where they were paid ten years ago, when the amount of work done is taken into consideration. He says that the workers accomplish 26 per cent. less work now than in 1911, and he adds:

"This applies to other industries as well as shipbuilding and explains why more orders are not obtainable and why so many men are unemployed."

COULD PREVENT MOST ELEVATOR ACCIDENTS

Lack of Safety Devices Reason for 75 Per Cent.

Nearly three-quarters of the fatal elevator accidents that occur could be prevented if elevators and shaftway doors were equipped with well designed interlocking devices, a survey and study conducted by the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce in Washington has shown.

A large number of elevator fatalities occur at the shaft door, either through an open door, which allows a person to fall down the shaft, or it allows person to step from a moving car and be crushed between the car and the door frame. An interlock prevents the shaft door from being opened except when the car is at rest in front of the door.

Elevator safety is declared to be as important as street car safety, as the Bureau of Standards investigators have found that about as many ride on elevators as on all the city traction lines. Postmen, messengers and others rely on them and their safety devices to a large extent.

SURVIVOR OF MONITOR.

Now Living in Kansas Will Get a Pension.

WHITE CLOUD, Kan., Nov. 26.—Mr. J. F. Ramsdell, 74, is one of the last, if not the very last, of the survivors of the crew who fought on the Monitor when it defeated the famous Confederate ironclad Merrimac on the James River March 9, 1862. The Merrimac the day before had sunk the United States ship Cumberland and Congress. Old age has compelled him to seek Government aid and he will soon be granted a pension.
